- 14 pt. White, Anne T. All about the Great Rivers of the World. New York: Random House, 1957. $1.95 6-8
The stories of the world's great rivers, how they are formed, and how man has been affected by them. Type is well leaded. Two-color line illustrations in black and green.
- 14 pt. White, Anne Terry Rocks All Around Us. New York: Random House, 1959. $1.95 5-7
The story of rocks, how they are formed and changed and the many uses they are to men. Type is well leaded. Soft duotone crayon drawings in red and black.

560—Prehistoric Animals

- 14 pt. Andrews, Roy Chapman All about Strange Beasts of the Past. New York: Random House, 1956. $1.95 5-8
Written by the former director of the American Museum of Natural History, this book contains the stories of a number of the most unusual and interesting prehistoric animals yet known to science, how they were discovered and reconstructed. Type well leaded. Black pen and ink drawings with yellow color high lights.
- 18 pt. Andrews, Roy Chapman In the Days of the Dinosaurs. New York: Random House, 1959. $1.95 4-6
All about dinosaurs and the world in which they lived. Includes major fossil sites in the U.S. and Asia and information on how skeletons are exposed, reconstructed, and preserved. Glossary and pronunciation key plus an index. Fine duotone illustrations in black and green.
- 30 pt. *Clark, Mary Lou The True Book of Dinosaurs. Chicago: Children's Press, 1955. $2.00 1-3
In very simple language this book manages to contain a great deal of general information concerning prehistoric animals and some of their present day relatives. The scientific names are included but not as a part of the text proper. Type is sans serif and widely leaded. Drawings are duotones in black and brown or black and green.
- 14 pt. Fenton, Carroll L. and Mildred A. Prehistoric Zoo. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday & Co., 1959. $3.50 4-5
An excellent presentation of ancient animal life with each animal carefully drawn in black and white ink drawings. Often gives information on present-day relatives and includes keyed references to a "Calendar of Ancient Ages" at the end of the book.
